Have corporate golf days taken over from the closed shop of members clubs as the place to strike a business deal?

BUSINESS PROFILE: Maddy and Max, Chesterton (The Times of Northwest Indiana)

Jennifer McWhirter, a stay-at-home mom with years of retail experience, and her friend, Amy Jalovecky, an orthodontic assistant, had always talked about opening a business together. But it wasn't until McWhirter saw the barely worn clothing from her two growing children pile up that the two got the idea to open a gently worn, upscale children's clothing boutique.
